

Welcome to your activity pack!

This activity is to help you think about how you feel about the past, the present and your hopes for the future. You have a powerful voice. You can complete this pack by yourself, with a family member or with a friend if possible. There is no right or wrong way to answer these questions. We invite you to make a poster to share your ideas. Just remember to have fun!

You will need:

- paper
- felt tips
- a quiet space

Take some time to think about the past. Focus your thoughts on your time at school. Write one word answers or a whole sentence to each question.

What was your morning routine?

How did you travel to school?

What was school like?

What was it like playing with your friends?

What was home life like?

What was your favourite part of the day?

What do you miss?

What things have changed?

How are you feeling?

Think about the present.
How have things changed?

Add to the spider diagram with one word answers
for each question.

What are you enjoying about the present?

What are you not enjoying
about the present?

Now think about the future.

What do you feel strongly about?

This could be school, family, friends, health, environment, outdoors, neighbourhood, anything else important to you.

What changes would you like to see in the future that connect to the things that are important to you?

Make a poster to share your vision of the future

Choose one word you wrote about the past:

Choose one word you wrote about the future:

Rearrange your chosen words to create a slogan sharing the change you would like to see in the future. Keep it short and simple.

My slogan:

Write your slogan in big letters on a sheet of paper. Decorate it with your favourite colours and add drawings or patterns. Make it bold and eye catching. Display it at home or in your window for your neighbours to see.

Take a photograph of your finished poster and email it to John Hansard Gallery vanessa@jhg.art who will share it with the gallery audiences via social media.
